just dream for a minute ...

...dream that you could design your own registration website with no outside assistance.

...dream that you could create your event information & FAQ pages, email templates. Yes, just like that!

...dream that you could design your own reports with a couple clicks and view registrations as they roll in.

...dream that you could continue working without a web connection and still produce lists, badges, personalized letters, session agendas...

...dream that you could automatically see exactly how many delegates can attend each function and order services accordingly (and save tons of money!

...dream that you could produce confirmations, transportation & purchase orders and monitor your event budget by the minute.

...dream that you could keep track of all your projects, suppliers and customers in just one place

...dream that you could instantly produce statistics and reports across all your events over a year or more dream no more. we have it all. swiss made.
